

URGES POLICE WAR ON WHITE SLAVERY

Major Sylvester Asks Chiefs to Assist Government in Stamping Out Evil.

Major Sylvester Points Out New Use of Movies In Aiding Police Work

"The moving picture film has been utilized to bring forth the movements of individuals in crowds and in places as a means of substantiating testimony. Bird's-eye views of traffic conditions have been added to other pictures to afford object lessons for reference to traffic police in order that they may familiarize themselves with situations requiring correction."

were treated to a real drama. "Conspirators" disclosed a deep, dark plot. The little diagram over which Miss Haarer presided, accurately recorded the talk.

The part of the "movies" in detecting crime, and as a means of instruction to officers, came up for part of Major Sylvester's discussion. He said that the "movies" have been used as a means of showing conclusively a criminal's movements in a crowd, and likewise, birds-eye views of traffic conditions have been employed as object lessons for traffic officers.

The convention today received through the major a suggestion from the social economy department of the Panama exposition that the development of police work to be shown in a special exhibit. The association probably will undertake to stage a big show in this line.

The speaker gave high tribute to the assistance of women, as matrons and detectives. The association death list of the past year included George C. Tenney, of Elizabeth, N. J.; John J. Donohue, of Omaha, Neb.; George M. Shippy, of Chicago, and Michael Corrigan, of Newark, N. J.

The association tonight will visit the Congressional Library to see the illumination. Tomorrow's speakers will include Congressman Borland of Missouri and John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union.

The report of Secretary Treasurer Harvey O. Carr, of Grand Rapids, showed that the association had on hand May 12 a balance of $10,123.

Woman Mail Carrier Takes Day Off to Wed.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., June 8.—Miss Florence S. Markham, who has traveled 10,000 miles in the last twenty-four years carrying the mail between Interlaken and Stockbridge, three miles apart, was married in Canada, Conn., yesterday to Archibald Boyd, of Becket. She telephoned to Postmaster Steve C. Burghard, last night, that she was resuming carrying the mail tomorrow, after her one-day vacation, the first she had taken since May 1, 1899, when at the age of seventeen, she went on the Government pay roll. She said her husband would keep house.

Mrs. Boyd has a record of never having missed the train. One day last April an automobile wrecked her carriage. She jumped out, grabbed the mailbag, shouldered it, and ran a mile to the train. When she had thrown the bag into the car she hastened back to the broken vehicle. She has encountered snowstorms in winter, when her horse could not get through the drifts. Since it was published that her four-year contract with the Government had been renewed from March 4, last, at $200 a year, she has received more than 100 proposals of marriage.

HELD FOR ASSAULT ON INSANE PATIENT

Government Hospital Employee
Is Charged With Attack
Following Argument.

Carl J. Breeden, twenty-two years old, an attendant at the Government Hospital for the Insane for the last four months, was locked up in the Anacostia police station, charged with assaulting one of the patients in the building in which the employee worked. The patient's name, which appeared as complainant, was given as William H. Roland.

M. P., on Spree, Fills Pockets With Soap

LONDON, June 8.—Both the city and metropolitan police are chuckling over a recent incident which occurred within the city limits. A respectable dressed man was arrested for drunkenness, and on being taken to the station persisted in saying that he was a member of parliament.

The station sergeant was very incredulous, but on a search being made no fewer than four cakes of soap of common soap were found on him. The telephone was used, and it was established that the soap merchant came from St. Stephens, and he was at once released.

Athletes Bear Body Of "Mike" Murphy

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Borne on the shoulders of the eight athletes who represented Pennsylvania in the recent intercollegiate meet at Harvard, and followed by scores of present and former stars in the athletic world, the body of "Mike" L. Murphy, the world's most famous athletic coach, was taken to St. James' Catholic Church this morning.

While the massive edifice was thronged inside and out, a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by a former chum, the Rev. James Monaghan. More than 150 floral pieces, from universities, clubs, and admirers from every section of the country, preceded by the hearse. After mass the body was escorted to the station, and a large delegation of University of Pennsylvania students accompanied it to Hopkinton, Mass. Murphy's former home, where interment will be made.

Called From Pew, Man Is Shot Down

NEW YORK, June 8.—Peter Colonelli, a deacon in the Italian Presbyterian Church of the Ascension, was called out of the church in the midst of last night's service, and was shot down on the steps of the building.

Despite his injuries he struggled to his feet and handed a crowd of excited churchgoers, which pursued his assassin, Giuseppe Giannese, a youth of nineteen, whose motive for shooting Colonelli is a mystery, rumormongers and darted into a tenement building.

Then, closely pursued, he leaped from a second-story window and was picked up unconscious. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital. A prisoner, charged with felonious assault.

DISTRICT OFFICERS TO BE NAMED SOON

Indications Point to Certain
Decision on Commissioners
Before End of Month.

The District will know at the early date the President's selections for District commissionerships, according to advisers at the White House today. While these appointments have been expected for a month or more, the indications now point to a certain decision before the close of the month. President Wilson, busy with tariff currency, lobby and Japanese matters, has been unable to reach the commissionership choices definitely.

Hundreds of letters of recommendation, however, have been extracted during the wait so that the President may have a comprehensive knowledge of the local situation at brief notice.

Sneer Brings Stab.

BOSTON, June 8.—Because he believed Simon Sawtelle was sneering at him Henry Corbett, a soldier of "misfortune," who says he walked here from San Francisco, stabbed Sawtelle in the neck.

CROSS EXONERATED BY POLICE BOARD

Charge of Being on Friendly
Terms With Bookmakers
Ordered Dismissed.

Police Inspector Francis E. Cross was today exonerated by the police trial board of charges of being on friendly terms with alleged bookmakers, against the discipline of the department. The charges were ordered dismissed by the board, consisting of Assistant Corporation Counsel Marshall, chairman, and Police Inspectors Gessford and Boyle.

The action of the board in finding Cross "not guilty" comes as the culmination of charges which had been hanging over the police official's head for nearly two years. In spite of the fact that the allegations were two years old, the case was not brought to trial until last March, when the District Commissioners ordered Cross to appear before the board.

The action of the board upholds my contention that these charges were nothing more or less than a "frame-up," asserted Cross today. "There was no ground for them. The District Attorney and others had officially gone into them and found there was nothing warranting criminal or other action."

In July, 1911, agents of the Department of Justice raided a number of alleged handbooks and businesses in the vicinity of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. During their investigation the Department of Justice men asserted they found the militant brought up to a high pitch some of them almost hysterical are considered by the government to be ready for anything. The final decision lies with Home Secretary McKenna.

District Attorney Wilson took the matter up with Superintendent of Police Sylvester and Commissioner Johnson, who has general supervision of the Police Department. No action was taken at the time. Mr. Wilson appeared as a witness before the trial board he asserted his investigation showed there was nothing which would warrant criminal action against Cross.

Lecture Is Postponed Till Thursday Evening

The Connecticut Avenue Citizens' Association has postponed the lecture of O. P. Austin, secretary of the National Geographic Society, on the subject, "Around the World in Eighty Minutes," which was to have been delivered at the Army and Navy Preparatory School on Wednesday evening at 8:30. The lecture will be given next Thursday evening at the same place and hour.

The postponement was made necessary because on Wednesday evening an honorary degree is to be conferred upon Mr. Austin by George Washington University. All invitations for the lecture remain in force.

Veteran of Geodetic Service Found Dead

After an illness of many months Alonzo T. Mosman, until recently a veteran employee of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, was found dead this morning in his apartment in the Portman, Fifteenth and U streets northwest. Mosman was seventy-eight years old. He was a native of Massachusetts and had been employed in the Geodetic Survey for many years. Recently his condition became such as the result of cancer of the face that he was obliged to leave from his home in San Francisco, stabbed Sawtelle in the neck.

MILITANT FUNERAL AROUSES OFFICIALS

London Police Fear Disorders
When Woman Who Caught
King's Horse Is Buried.

LONDON, June 8.—Fearing possible disorders, Scotland Yard police heads today were considering the advisability of prohibiting a great public funeral which the militant suffragettes are arranging for Miss Emily Wilding Davison, the Northumberland suffragette, who died late yesterday at Epson Cottage Hospital as the result of the injuries she received when she attempted to grasp the bridle of the King's horse in last week's Derby.

At the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in King's Way, where the flag is at half-mast in honor of the dead woman, the women said they were planning for the biggest funeral that London ever saw, not even excepting that of the late King Edward VII. They said they would make the death of Miss Davison the most impressive object lesson Great Britain has had for a generation, bringing home to every man and woman in the United Kingdom the realization that the women's battle for the ballot is a real revolution and not opera and story-book warfare.

It is this spirit evinced by the women that caused Scotland Yard to propose to prohibit any public demonstration in connection with Miss Davison's obsequies. The militants brought up to a high pitch some of them almost hysterical are considered by the government to be ready for anything. The final decision lies with Home Secretary McKenna.

In striking contrast to the apathy of the Women's Social and Political Union when Miss Davison's mad act at Epson Downs was first announced, was the attitude of the militants today. They did not know Emily Wilding Davison at the time. Mrs. Wilson appeared as a witness before the trial board he asserted his investigation showed there was nothing which would warrant criminal action against Cross.

Hundreds of militant suffragettes came to see the body, and the room was banked high with flowers.

Miss Kristabel Pankhurst, from her exile in France, telegraphed the Daily Sketch a tribute to Miss Davison saying she was a martyr who died for the cause. She said: "Miss Davison died for women. She did this to call attention to their wrongs and win them votes. The government's refusal to grant them votes led her to make her protest. The argument has not convinced Mr. Asquith of the seriousness of his position, but perhaps the woman's death will."

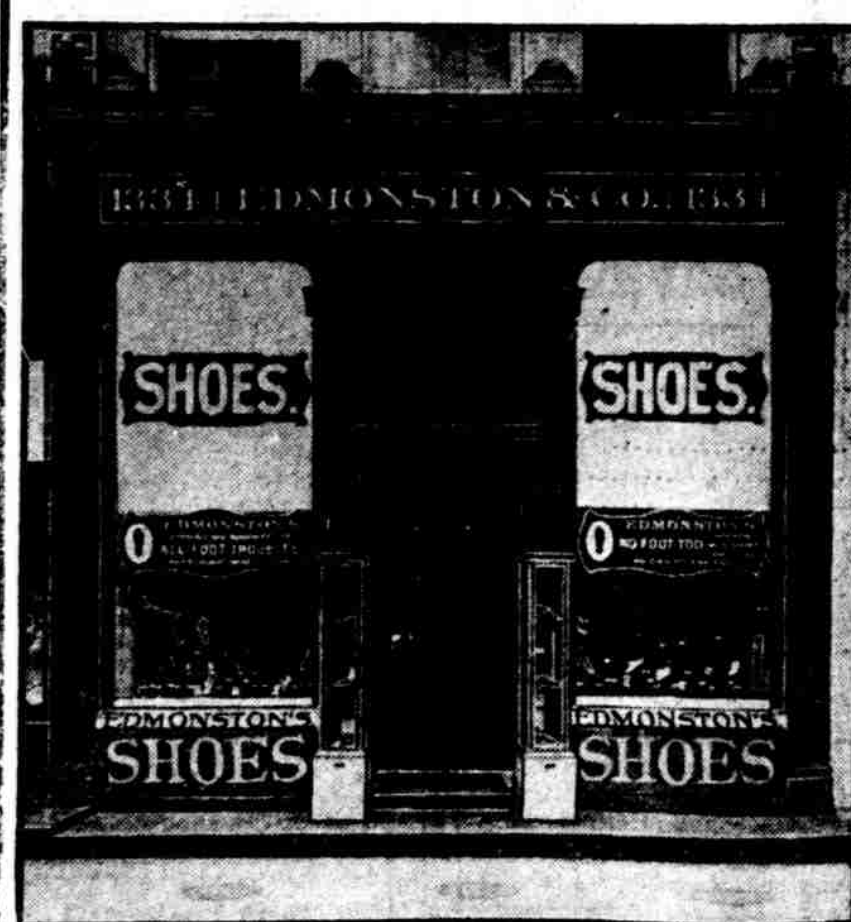

Miss Davison, who was the first suffragette to be subjected to forcible feeding, died from a fractured skull, received when she threw King George's horse, Anmer, in the Derby. The horse trampled her.

Spurious Coin Found In Church Collection

LENOX, Mass., June 8.—Two counterfeit half dollars were found in the collection box of the Becket Congregational Church by Matthew D. E. Tower, the treasurer.

Government officers are hunting for a gang of counterfeiters believed to be making spurious money in that section of the Berkshires from Rabbit metal, several pieces of which were recently thrown from a Boston and Albany train.

AD MEN WILL VISIT CAPITAL SATURDAY

Delegates to the Baltimore
Convention Will Accompany
Washingtonians Here.

Although disappointed because more attention was not given their letter inviting the entire convention to visit this city for one day, members of the Washington Ad Club are taking an important part in the convention of the National Association of Advertising Men in Baltimore, where more than 6,000 persons have gathered to boost advertising, the keynote of modern business success.

The letter, which was written some four months ago to President Shea, of the Baltimore Ad Club, inviting him to set aside one day to be Washington Day, was never answered, but President Shea has explained that it was abroad when the letter reached Baltimore, and that it was misplaced before his return.

It is believed that nearly all of the delegates will visit this city Saturday, and the Washingtonians who went to Baltimore today will bring as large a number back with them Saturday as possible.

The delegates from the Washington club who are at the convention are: President Walter McDowell, Editor McC. Smith, John E. Shoemaker, C. E. Phelps, and H. Kirkus Dugdale. Other Washingtonians who went today, or will go later in the week, are Francis J. Kana, V. B. Holman, George S. Gove, S. D. Stephenson, J. William Jay, Gerald Richard, Charles H. Brock, H. A. C. Fay, A. B. Keeler, John F. Foster, George Dugdale, and John M. Cherry.
